COURSE DESCRIPTION

Using the Burren College of Art (BCA) as our home base, this course explores the literature and landscape of Ireland through writing and photography. We'll read the inspired works of Yeats, Joyce and McCourt and travel from Burren to Galway, Dublin, and Limerick.

We'll use our cameras, pens, and Photoshop to explore, record and create in response to our experience of the landscape and culture of Ireland. Class at the BCA will consist of readings, discussions, slide lectures, Photoshop demos, open studio, and writing workshops.

St. John's Castle, Limerick

Dublin at night

COURSE HIGHLIGHTS

Burren: In the heart of Ireland's green and rural County Clare, Burren is an amazing landscape of limestone rock and stony outcroppings.

Galway: We'll visit Yeats' home in Thoor Ballylee and explore this scenic coastal city often called Ireland's most Irish city.

Dublin: We'll visit the Irish Museum of Modern Art, the James Joyce House, The Crypts of St. Michan, and explore this legendary city by foot.

Limerick: The birthplace of Frank McCourt is an historic city of castles and cathedrals.

Free Time: Two weekends and all evenings are free to explore Burren and Ireland on your own.

ACCOMMODATIONS

When we're not traveling to inspiring locations around Ireland, we will stay in well-appointed cottages at the Burren College of Art. Each house has a fully-equipped kitchen, comfortable lounge and dining area, laundry facilities, and wireless internet access.
